GENERAL INFORMATION.

MATRICULATION.

All who enter the University are expected to conform to its usages and regulations.

The rules of the institution are based alone upon the moral and social requirements of good society; and students who are not able and willing to deport themselves as ladies and gentlemen, will not be allowed to maintain their connection with the school.

ATTENDANCE AND SCHOLARSHIP.

A record is kept of the scholarship and general deportment of each student, an abstract of which is sent to the parents or guardian at the close of each term.

EXAMINATIONS.

At the close of every term, there are public examinations of all the classes, in both Collegiate and Preparatory Departments.

DEGREES.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred upon all students who have completed the prescribed Classical Course of study, and passed a satisfactory examination therein; and the degree of Bachelor of Science upon all who have completed the Scientific Course, and passed a similar examination.

The degree of Master of Accounts will be conferred on all who complete the Commercial Course, and sustain a satisfactory examination in the same.

The degree of Master of Arts may be conferred upon Bachelors of Arts who have been engaged for three years in literary pursuits, and sustained a good moral character.

Bachelors of Science, of three years' standing, may receive the Degree of Master of Science, provided that, since graduation, they have sustained a good moral character, and pursued some literary or scientific calling.

Applications for these degrees should be made to the President at least two weeks before the annual commencement, and the usual fee of five dollars advanced.

STUDENTS NOT IN COURSE.

Students, who do not wish to pursue a regular course, are admitted into any of the classes to pursue such studies as they may choose, under the regulations of the Faculty. Special classes may be formed when the Faculty shall deem it expedient.

SOCIETIES.

There are three Literary Societies in the University, two conducted by the gentlemen, and one by the ladies. These Societies have good halls, and have commenced the formation of permanent libraries.

READING ROOM.

A Reading Room has been opened in one of the apartments of Commercial Hall, and is supplied with some of the best literary, religious, and political periodicals of the day.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

The duties of each day are opened with religious exercises in the Chapel of the University, at which all the students are required to be present.

On the Sabbath they are required to attend public worship in the forenoon and evening, with some congregation in the village, selected by themselves or by their parents.

The students also sustain a weekly prayer meeting.

ILLUSTRATIVE MATERIAL.

A collection of the important minerals is provided for students in Chemistry and Geology.

Large numbers of Fossils and Rocks, illustrating the Geological Periods from the Potsdam to the Triassic, have been collected and purchased.

There is also an Herbarium containing 1,000 Plants; a series of Mounted Birds; several cases of Insects; many Skins of Birds and Mammals; Skulls and Skeletons, and Alcoholic Specimens, which, though not all yet arranged for public exhibition, are available for study and comparison.

Several thousand duplicate specimens of the above are on hand for exchange, and will be catalogued as soon as circumstances will permit.

The laboratory is furnished with sufficient Apparatus and Chemicals for the instruction of classes in Theoretical and Practical Chemistry.

LOCATION AND BUILDINGS.

Fayette, the seat of the Upper Iowa University, is situated in Fayette county, Iowa, on the line of the Davenport and Saint Paul Railroad, which is now in process of construction, and will undoubtedly be completed during the ensuing collegiate year.

The village is midway between Postville on the Milwaukee and Saint Paul Railroad, and Independence on the Dubuque and Sioux City Railroad, and connected with both these points by daily lines of stages. It contains about 1,200 inhabitants, and being surrounded by a healthy and beautiful country affords an attractive and advantageous location for a Literary Institution.

The University building is a substantial structure of hewn stone, and contains ample accommodations for the appointments of the school. The Campus consists of twelve acres of beautifully located and ornamented grounds which overlook the village and river.

TEACHERS' AIDS.

The following standard works of the "TEACHERS' LIBRARY" are specially mentioned and recommended to teachers by many of the most successful educators of the country.

PAGE'S THEORY AND PRACTICE OF TEACHING, PRICE - - $1 50

NORTHEND'S TEACHERS' ASSISTANT, PRICE - - - 1 50

HOLBROOK'S NORMAL METHOD, PRICE - - - - 1 75

The first question which the wide-awake teacher asks himself, after entering upon his duties and properly organizing his school, is, "What course for self-improvement can I most advantageously pursue?" and the answer which naturally presents itself—"Avail myself of the experience of those who have preceded me." This is easy, thanks to enterprising men, who have studied and labored, despaired and rejoiced, suffered and reaped their reward in the same paths upon which thousands of new footsteps enter annually. With a whole-souled love of their profession, and regard for those who pursue it, they have committed their experience and its lessons to the press, so that "he who runs may read."

In no way can teachers so fitly benefit themselves as in the perusal of these volumes, in which they should take a professional pride. Here are the records and the results of the life labor of those who have stood highest in the ranks, and who are peculiarly qualified for the task they undertake.

THEORY AND PRACTICE OF TEACHING—Page.

This volume has, without doubt, been read by two hundred thousand teachers, and its popularity remains undiminished—large editions being exhausted yearly. It was the pioneer, as it is now the patriarch of professional works for teachers.

THE TEACHERS' ASSISTANT—Northend.

A natural continuation of the above work, directly calculated for daily use in the administration of school discipline and instruction.

THE NORMAL—Holbrook.

Carries a working school on its visit to teachers, showing the most approved method of teaching all the common branches, including the technicalities, explanations, demonstrations, and definitions introductory and peculiar to each branch.

Besides the above books, we respectfully call attention to others of the "TEACHERS' LIBRARY," as follows:

The Business Course of Instruction properly embraces four departments: Preparatory, Junior, Middle and Senior, to which may be added a fifth class; Ornamental Penmanship and Pen Drawing. Each department is sub-divided into three divisions—A, B, C. In each department the student is required to sustain an examination, Scholarship and Department being marked on the College Register.

Preparatory Department.

Includes a thorough analysis of the nature and uses of the different books kept by business men, Language of Trade and Commercial Definitions.

DIVISION A.

Introduces the student to a miniature business world, in which he leases store, invests capital, engages salesmen, purchases a stock of goods at the Merchants' Emporium, and commences life as a merchant.

DIVISION B.

Continues the business already commenced, introducing exercises in Ruling, Spelling and Business Correspondence, with frequent examinations.

DIVISION C.

New and more intricate transactions are introduced in business involving a thorough understanding of the rule of journalizing.

Frequent drills in Ledger Headings, Closing of Books, Business Papers and Penmanship. Books are examined in every set, and, if found correct, the student is promoted to the Junior Department.

This Department includes Complete Accounts, Jobbing, Forwarding and Commission, Mercantile Correspondence, Commercial Arithmetic, and Commercial Law.

DIVISION A,

Embraces more advanced transactions in trade, introducing a new form of Double Entry Book Keeping, in which less amount of writing is necessary to give a clear and accurate account of business transactions than in any form of single entry now in use.

DIVISION B.

Here he commences business with Assets and Liabilities of previous set, admitting a partner with additional capital. Introducing transactions in Shipping and Commission, use of Bills of Exchange, Notes, Checks and Drafts, Account of Sales, together with Discounting business with the Bank, and Partnership Sales, with exercises in Spelling and Defining.

DIVISION C,

Comprises Wholesale and Retail Merchandizing, Jobbing, Joint Stock Companies, Discounting Notes with Bank, Equation of Payments, short methods of Addition and Multiplication, Mercantile Correspondence and Business Forms.

Middle Department.

This Department contains the most difficult and complicated transactions that can possibly occur in business, testing to the utmost the student's knowledge of the principles of the science.

DIVISION A.

Method of changing books from Single to Double Entry represented with great clearness; Second Method of Compound Companies, and a great variety of interesting and difficult computations introduced. Examinations daily.

DIVISION B.

First set of Forwarding and Commission transactions become still more complicated, and illustrate a great variety of entries, rendering the merchant expert in Journalizing; Law of Promissory Notes, Drafts, Bills of Exchange, &c.

DIVISION C.

Comprises a thorough practical review of actual business; Examinations daily in Arbitration of Exchange; Discounting Notes; Equation of Payments, including the more intricate problems in Forwarding and Commission, as Merchandise Companies and Adventure Companies, where losses have been sustained by accident in transit, by fire, &c., with examples; Bankruptcy.

After a thorough examination, the student enters the Senior Department.

This Department contains the Express, Steamboat and Railroad Offices; Merchant's Emporium and Banks.

DIVISION A.

This Division is devoted to Express, Railroad, Steamboat, Insurance, Exchange, and Real Estate Business. Through these offices all freight is passed by parties representing various interests in different parts of the country, to others at opposite ends of the lines. Each student is required to fill the several positions in offices, each in regular gradation until he becomes familiar with the entire routine of business.

DIVISION B.

This is the Merchants' Emporium, and represents business as conducted in a first class wholesale establishment in one of the great cities.

From this establishment all Students purchase their first stock of goods, and through its offices all Merchandise is shipped and actually delivered.

Upon emerging from this thoroughfare of business life, and sustaining a critical examination in all the previous Departments and Divisions, together with an analysis of Commercial Law, if found qualified, he is introduced to the Banking Department.

This contains the College Banks, which are actual Banks of Deposit, Discount, and Circulation, having regular subscriptions for Shares, and having Shares of Stock, issued as complete in every appointment as any chartered city institution.

Provided with their own Bills, Specie, Checks, Notes, Bills of Exchange, &c., &c., furnished with full sets of books, and the business done with as much accuracy and dexterity as in the most complete establishment in the Metropolis, Students act in every capacity, from Book Keeper to President, holding the regular offices in their turn. No similar institutions in the country are conducted more in accordance with State and National Laws on Banking than are these. After passing through this Department, if proper attention has been paid during the course, the Student sustains an examination, and is awarded a Diploma as Master of Accounts, which assures him, if accompanied with the other qualifications necessary in any vocation in life, energy and perseverance, an honorable place in the arena of active life, and eventually competence.

General Information.

LOCATION.

The Upper Iowa University is situated in Fayette, Fayette Co., Iowa. This village contains about one thousand two hundred inhabitants, and is equi-distant from Independence, on D. & S. C. R. R., and Postville, on the M. & St. Paul R. R., to each of which points it is connected by a daily line of stages. A tri-weekly stage also runs to Manchester. The Davenport and St. Paul Road, already commenced, runs through Fayette. For beauty of scenery and healthful climate, as well as for the good order and moral and intelligent character of the community, Fayette is renowned.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS.

The University building is of cut stone, 100 feet long, by 44 feet wide, three stories high, and is not surpassed by any similar structure in the state. The college campus contains twelve acres of beautifully ornamented grounds. The building contains a Chapel, Library, Cabinet, Lecture, Society, and Recitation Rooms, and rooms for Teachers and Students. Students' rooms are furnished with stove, bedstead, wardrobe, straw bed, mattress, and two pillows, work stand and table. Whatever else students want they furnish.

FACILITIES.

The College Library, together with the society libraries, furnish a good selection of books for use of students.

Additions are being made to these Libraries almost every term, and plans are maturing for largely increasing the College Library the ensuing fall.

There are three Literary Societies connected with the institution—two conducted by gentlemen and one by ladies. Great interest is taken by the students in their weekly exercises; and also zeal in increasing their libraries and making their halls attractive is manifested.

The Cabinet contains a good collection of minerals, plants, birds, skeletons, &c., for illustration in geology, botany, natural history, and physiology.

The College is furnished with apparatus for illustrating the physical sciences, such as Air Pumps, Electrical Machines, Microscopes, Mechanical Powers, Chemicals, &c., &c.

GOVERNMENT.

All who enter the University will be expected, without partiality, to observe its rules and regulations. We endeavor to maintain a kind but judicious and firm discipline. So far as practicable, students are "thrown upon their good behavior," appeal being made to their sense of justice and propriety. No student persisting in profanity or improper language, disregard for the wishes and requirements of instructors, disorder in study hours, disrespect for the Sabbath or religious observances, will be allowed to remain a member of the University. Everything unbecoming good moral and scholarly character, is prohibited. Resort will be had to expulsion when other means fail of correction.

All public rooms and public exercises are subject to the control of the Faculty.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

Though under the patronage and supervision of the M. E. Church, the Faculty will studiously and conscientiously avoid anything like sectarianism in their duties and relations with the students. All students are required to attend Divine Worship twice on the Sabbath, in such place as they or their parents or guardians may select, only so that it be a regularly constituted church worship. Daily devotional exercises are held in the chapel, which all students are required to attend. A weekly prayer and class meeting is held in the institution for the special benefit of the officers and students.

MERIT ROLL AND EXAMINATIONS.

A daily account of scholarship, attendance and conduct, is kept and read at the close of each term, and will be sent to the parents or guardians when requested, Examinations before the Faculty at the close of each Term; also at the close of the year, before a Conference Committee appointed for the purpose.

There are three grades of scholarship, viz: Third grade from 6 to 7½; second grade from 7½ to 9; first grade from 9 to 10. Honorable mention will be made in the papers of those who attain to the first grade; also of those who receive no demerits for the term. Students not attaining to third grade will not be passed to advanced studies.

DEGREES.

The degree of Bachelor of Arts is conferred on all students who have completed the Classical Course and sustained a satisfactory examination of the same. The degree of Bachelor of Science is conferred on all students who complete the Scientific course, and pass the examinations on the same.

The degree of Master of Accounts is conferred on all those who complete the Commercial Course and pass satisfactory examinations in the same.

The degree of Master of Arts may be conferred on every Bachelor of Arts of three years' standing, who has been engaged since his graduation in appropriate pursuits, and has sustained a good moral character.

The degree of Master of Science may be conferred on every Bachelor of Science of three years' standing who has been engaged since his graduation in appropriate pursuits and has sustained a good moral character. But these degrees will only be conferred on proper application, accompanied with the usual fee of five dollars.

PRIZES.

The President will give a prize of ten dollars, to be awarded to that student whose average standing for scholarship and deportment shall be the highest for ensuing year. The President hopes to secure the establishment of other prizes for special excellence in particular departments, to be announced at the opening of the Fall Term. These prizes may be divided.

MUSIC AND THE FINE ARTS.

This Department, including Piano, Organ, Melodeon, Vocal Culture, Drawing, Painting, Crayon, Wax and Hair Work, is under the most efficient and successful teachers of culture and experience. Excellent discipline and superior refinement are the legitimate fruits of careful tuition and diligent study and practice in these esthetic branches.
